Paving of State Route 210 lanes will require new freeway entrance and exit at Sierra Avenue, starting August 5

WHO

San Bernardino Associated Governments (SANBAG) and Caltrans are the agencies working in partnership to build State Route 210 in Rialto. However, Caltrans is overseeing the work at Sierra.

WHAT

Currently State Route 210 ends at Sierra Avenue in Fontana. This will remain the end of the freeway until the final eight miles in Rialto and San Bernardino are built and opened in 2007. Paving the freeway lanes between Sierra and Linden Avenue will start soon. To prepare for this paving, Caltrans has constructed a new freeway entrance and exit at Sierra Avenue. Motorists who exit the freeway at this location will use the existing exit ramp, but now will connect directly to Easton Street using a new road. Motorists who are entering the freeway now will use the new circular on-ramp north of Route 210. Access to Sierra from north of the freeway also can be made using Casmalia Street.

WHEN

Work is scheduled to start Thursday, August 5. The new connecting road from Sierra to Easton will remain in effect until the final eight miles of freeway open to motorists in 2007.

WHERE

The diagram on the reverse side of this sheet shows the approximate location of the new freeway entrance and exit at Sierra.

WHY

The new connecting road will allow construction crews to pave the freeway lanes between Sierra and Linden. It also will allow motorists to continue using Sierra to connect with Route 210.

Please call the Route 210 Helpline for any special access needs you might have or anticipate during construction. If any contractors, machinery or work directly impact your business, please let the construction workers know.
